

Project Sheet Feng Sushi

Location Hampstead

Timing 6 weeks

Budget £160,000

Feng Sushi likes to mix traditional Japanese cuisine with more modern dishes. They take the best aspects from a craft practised for centuries to create sushi for the present day.

Co-founded by Silla Bjerrum in 1999, the chain now has eight restaurants around London; Fulham, Borough Market, Kensington, Notting Hill Gate, Chalk Farm, Billingsgate, Royal Festival Hall and their latest acquisition in Hampstead.

Danish by birth, Silla has the technique and skills of a traditional sushi chef but is more interested in modern interpretation of this ancient cuisine. Silla was the first woman to be invited to the prestigious 7 Samurai Sushi competition in 2008 and now teaches at Leith's, Divertimenti and Billingsgate.

Ecsec are delighted to have won the contracts for fitting out/refurbishing five Feng Sushi restaurants in the past 12 months. The latest being Hampstead, which was completed in a period of 6 weeks and had a contract value of £160,000.

We've worked with ecsec for the last 2 years from refurbishment, to new shop fitting and maintenance, I have always been pleased with the delivery of the quality of work within a good timeframe. They come highly recommended and I will not hesitate to work with ecsec in the future.
